We go through a big metal turnstiles into the stadium with our tickets. We may have to queue.

Inside the stadium, I might see or hear...

FOOD & DRINK

We find our seats to sit and watch the game.

The match might be loud and noisy. There are stewards wearing green jackets who will be there to help. I can bring my ear defenders to make it easier of me.

At half-time the players take a break, this can be a good time to get refreshments or use the toilets. We are still able to do this during the game if I would prefer to avoid crowds.

Now it's time to watch the rest of the game. Depending on what type of match I am at, the referee might add on extra time, there may even be penalties to decide the winner. This means we will be at the stadium for longer than usual.

2nd HALF IS PLAYED

THE REFEREE MIGHT ADD ON EXTRA TIME

The referee blows the final whistle and it's time to go home. We can leave right away or wait behind for a few minutes to wait for the crowds to get smaller. We will walk out the stadium, and take the car, bus or train back home.
